

EXECUTIVE PEOPLE PUBLIC EYE

Send your photos to spearson-hormillosa@bizjournals.com
214-706-7156
12801 N. Central Expressway Suite 800 Dallas TX 75243

THE CONTAINER STORE: Dr. Sandra Chapman, founder and chief director of the University of Texas at Dallas' Center for BrainHealth, right, and Melissa Reiff, president of The Container Store, got together to announce The Container Store's third-year sponsorship of the UT Dallas' Center for BrainHealth lecture series, which begins Feb. 2.

MARSHA MASON RECEPTION: Marsha Mason, four-time Oscar nominee and star of "The Goodbye Girl," recently visited Dallas, where she was honored at a reception in Preston Hollow by Briggs Freeman, the real estate brokerage firm helping the actress sell her 247-acre estate in New Mexico. Attending the reception were, from left, Charles Freeman, president of Briggs Freeman; LeeLee Gioia, Briggs Freeman associate; Mason; Anne Goyer, Briggs Freeman associate; and Robbie Briggs, Briggs Freeman CEO.

LEGACY SENIOR COMMUNITIES AUXILIARY: The Legacy at Willow Bend recently hosted a kickoff event for its The Legacy Senior Communities Auxiliary, created to enhance the lives of seniors living at two Legacy communities — Willow Bend and Preston Hollow. More than 200 guests gathered for a luncheon, including, from left, Michael Ellentuck, president of The Legacy Senior Communities Inc.; Andrea Statman, director of development, The Legacy Senior Communities; Texas state Sen. Florence Shapiro, R-Plano; and Cary Rossel, chairman of The Legacy Senior Communities.

IRVING CARES: Exxon Mobil Corp. Chairman and CEO Rex Tillerson, right, presented a $50,000 check to Teddie Story, executive director of the 2009 chairman's gift recipient Irving Cares, in honor of her organization's work with Irving residents in need of employment, goods and financial services.

WILSON FOUNDATION BENEFIT: Wilson Associates held its 13th-annual Point of Excellence Awards Luncheon at the Rosewood Crescent Hotel in Dallas, honoring excellence in service to the design industry. More than 250 people attended, including, from left, 2009 Award Winner Connie Jackson, design director at Wilson Associates; 2009 Award Winner Andrea Cepale, owner of Cepale & Associates; Jeff Hill, president of Hill & Associates; and Trisha Wilson, president and chief executive officer of Wilson Associates.